Former Waveland police chief joins AG's office as Cyber Crime investigator

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Former Waveland
Police Chief David Allen has resigned from the department to accept a position as an investigator with the Mississippi Attorney General's Office Cyber Division, which he started this week.

"I am excited to have David Allen as the newest member of the Attorney General's Office," Attorney General Lynn Fitch said in a press release Tuesday. "The former Waveland police chief brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise to our Cyber Crime Division, where he will serve as an investigator."

"I'm very excited and honored to have been picked for this," Allen said Tuesday. "I will continue working with many of the same people I worked with before, but we'll be able to have a better focus on these kinds of crimes."

Allen said he will continue to live on the Gulf Coast and is assigned to Homeland Security Investigations. He will continue to work out of the same office where he's been for the past year.

"I'm not moving at all and I'm very honored to be able to continue to serve in the area I call home."

Originally from Phoenix, Ariz., Allen has worked at the Waveland P.D. since 1997, serving as a patrolman, patrol sergeant, I.T., criminal investigator, cyber crime investigator, chief investigator and chief of police.

For the past year, he's worked as the chief investigator and was assigned to the Department of Homeland Security Investigations task force as a cyber investigator.

While he'll still be working to combat Internet crimes against children, Allen said, "Attorney General Fitch is expanding the capabilities of the AG's Cyber Crime unit and we're going to be working a wider range of cases than I have traditionally. We're going to tackle cases and assist agencies on issues such as human trafficking, opioid abuse, and the financial abuse of the elderly."

"I've worked with many great professionals who I'm proud to consider my friends," Allen said in a social media post. "During my time in Waveland I've seen the worst and the best in people. I hung in a tree with other officers and watched Hurricane Katrina destroy our city and later cheered with everyone else as our new modern Waveland Po-

Cristobal causes unanticipated flooding in Hancock

Tropical Storm Cristobal made landfall in southeast La. on Sunday, but sent plent of water our way.

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Tropical Storm Cristobal made landfall in southeast Louisiana on Sunday, but caused much more flooding in Hancock County than anyone anticipated.

Although Hancock County was still under a Coastal Flood Advisory through 7 p.m. on Tuesday, local officials said Monday that the worst from Cristobal had already passed.

"The water's going down and the rain is just about out of here," Hancock County Emergency Management Agency Executive Director Brian "Hoody" Adam said Monday afternoon. "We had just a lot of water ... but we haven't had any reports of any property damage yet."

Tropical Storm Cristobal made landfall in Louisiana near Grand Isle at around 5 p.m. Sunday and — although it was later downgraded to a tropical depression — sent a surprising amount of rain

DMV stations are once again open

Public Safety Commissioner Sean Tindell explains the guidelines now in effect at DMV stations.

SEA COAST ECHO

Gov. Tate Reeves announced that DMV stations will reopen on Monday, June 8. Reeves, along with the Mississippi Department of Public Safety and state health offices, have issued social distancing procedures in order to “operate safely and efficiently during the pandemic.”

“Let’s be honest, they were a mess before,” Reeves said during Wednesday’s press briefing. “The pent-up demand created by the pandemic is only going to make existing problems worse. We think we’ve got a plan in place to make it run as safely and smoothly as possible, but there is a lot of structural work we’ve got to do for a real fix.”

Public Safety Commissioner Sean Tindell said Wednesday that “Mississippians have been greatly inconvenienced through the time our driver license stations have been closed and we appreciate their patience through this transition moving forward.”

“We are working diligently to safely reopen while protecting our employees and the customers we serve,” Tindell said.

In an effort to adhere to social distancing protocols, residents will be allowed to visit DMV stations on the day of the week that corresponds with the first letter of their last name. Walk-ins are welcome on “Walk-In Wednesdays.”

The schedule is as follows:

•	M o n -
day: A-E
•	T u e s -
day: F-L
•	W e d n e s d a y : “Walk-in Wednesday”
•	T h u r s -
day: M-S
•	F r i d a y : T-Z

Reeves also said he encourages “that people wear face coverings, such as cloth masks, when they are inside the stations.”

The following services will be available at permanent driver license stations:

- C D L Transactions
- Out of State Transfers
- N e w Credentials
- N e w Identification Card Credentials
- Security Guard Permits (Wednesdays only)
- Sex Offender Registration
- Permit tests for students
- R e i n - statements
- N o n - U.S. Citizens
- I g n i - tion-Interlock Restricted Licenses

Residents can access renewal services, duplicate driver licenses, ID cards, and address changes on the DPS website at www.driverservicebureau.dps.ms.gov.

Road tests for non-commercial drivers are waived until further notice, Tindell said. Minors must submit an affidavit completed by parent or guardian certifying 50 hours of supervised driving time. Affidavits are available on the DPS website. View the complete listing of DMV stations and additional information at www.dps.ms.gov.

You have to spend money to Make money.

1. any circulating medium of exchange, including coins, paper money, and demand deposits.

You have to spend money to Make money.

This is a common English saying . It means that it's hard to make money in a business without investing some money in supplies, products, advertisement or other business expenses.

Who wants to hear that? Probably no one. The truth hurts.

Owning a business is tough. No one ever said it was easy. In owning a business, your goal is to be recognized and successful. Why put in all of the hard work to be basically “invisible”? You see ads that run regularly. These businesses are successful. They're seen weekly whether it be to a flashy logo or an attractive female/male model. The point is that the business is getting noticed. A common phrase heard among salesman and ad representatives is this: “We don't have the money to advertise”. Sorry to be blunt, but you probably won't ever have “extra” money if you're unknown. Advertisements in the newspaper can pay big dividends if they are targeted to the right markets and presented in a way that encourages readers to buy.

You need to Know Your Audience. While younger Americans aren't the newspaper readers that their parents and grandparents are, print still offers a way of reaching key demographics. According to a study prepared for the Newspaper Association of America, 65.6 percent of respondents read the newspaper at least once in the past week, and that number rises to 72.6 percent of adults aged 55 and over. Print media is accessed by both genders, with 60.8 percent of each having read a newspaper over the past seven days. If those figures match your target marketing audience, it makes sense to use print to reach them.

Location, Location, Location... Location can't be stressed enough. Newspapers offer the ability to target your ads to better reach a specific customer base. For example, if you're selling sports equipment, advertising on TV during the NFL playoffs is likely cost-prohibitive and may reach many viewers with no intention of buying your wares. A small advertisement in your local sports section has the potential to catch the eye of football fans in your area, getting the local sports fans attention at a fraction of the cost. Make sure your ad is in the right spot in the paper. You're likely to have better luck selling musical instruments in the entertainment section of the paper than in the business or food sections.

Waveland gets clean FY 2018 audit

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Last week, the Waveland Board of Mayor and Aldermen received an “unmodified” opinion on its FY 2018 audit, conducted by Windham and Lacey, PLLC.

Emily Lacey said the firm completed two audits, a financial and single audit on the city’s recent sewer project.

“When you have $750,000 or more in federal funds, then you have to have a single audit,” she said.

She said that an “unmodified opinion,” means that “the financial statements are materially stated correctly.”

The audit listed the following findings and city’s responses:

1. Capital assets acquired and capital assets sold during the fiscal year were not always posted to the city’s capital assets accounting records. The city’s response, “the city has addressed this issue and is now recording all assets acquired and assets sold in the capital assets accounting system on a timely basis. Additionally, the city has performed an in-depth inventory of all assets by department to assure that these capital assets have been identified and recorded in the capital asset accounting system.

This inventory was performed in 2019 and is monitored and revised on a regular and timely basis.”

2. The audit noted instances of purchase requirements and purchase orders that did not include the purchase price of items purchased and not all purchases indicated proper receiving documentation to ensure all purchases were received and accounted for by the appropriate receiving clerk or department manager. The city’s response, “The city addressed this issue as a result of the findings of the 9/30/17 audit and specifically notified department heads that purchasing documents needed to include, at a minimum, as estimated cost of the item to be purchased on the department requisition. The prior purchasing clerk did not enforce the new policy and therefore, the issues noted above continued to occur. As of October 2018, this policy was re-addressed with the new purchasing clerk and again with department directors and, at this time, no requisitions are submitted without proper cost information and no purchase orders are issued without adequate cost information.”

3. The final finding states, “the city’s employment benefits include health insurance and payroll deductions for insurance and other items, such as deferred compensation, for which it remits payments to insurance companies and other institutions. During the year, the city failed to reconcile these amounts and paid insurance benefits for employees that had terminated employment with the city and failed to include all employees in payments to insurance companies when they should have been included. Failure to reconcile employment benefits could result in loss or misappropriation of public funds.” The city’s response, “the issue was discovered by the comptroller when the prior payroll clerk terminated employment with the city. Since October 2019, all insurance billings for employer provided insurance and all voluntary insurance billings have been reconciled on a monthly basis to assure that those billings are paid appropriately. Additionally, in February 2019, the city along with BXS, AFLAC, and Colonial Life representatives performed an audit on each individual employee benefit information to assure that all employees’ information and deductions were accurate. Additionally, the city set up procedures and improved communication with our insurance broker and agents to assure that additions and deletions of employees are performed on a timely basis to insure that coverages are put in place on time and that terminated employees are removed from the billings to prevent overpayment on insurance billings.”

With regards to the single audit the firm stated that “the results of our tests did not disclose any findings and questioned costs related to federal awards.”

In other action:

A public hearing is scheduled for June 17 for the property located at 467 Hwy. 90, site of the former Travel Express Inn.

Mayor Mike Smith announced that the Destination Waveland event, which is usually scheduled during the July 4 holiday, will be postponed until a later date to be determined.

The board handled several Planning and Zoning matters:

A motion to grant a request by Gustavo Trespalacios and Doraïne Barr to split the property known as 110 Adrienne Court failed.

The board approved Danny Lee and Brandon Shaw’s — owners of the property “not yet addressed” Part of Lot 40, 42, and 43 First Ward — request to remove one protected Live Oak tree, measuring 40” in diameter. The request was based on “construction cannot be practically located in such a way to preserve the tree or trees.” There are eight live oaks on the lot. The board also approved a five-foot side-yard variance, which would save another oak tree.

The board approved owner Alvin Kingston, III’s, request for a five-foot variance from the front yard requirement, resulting in a 20-foot front yard and a six-foot variance from the side yard resulting in a nine-foot side yard at 414 Edwards St.

Lastly, the board approved Maria Perez and Lisa Johnson’s conditional use request to construct a 1,200 square-foot accessory structure at 1329 Dubuc Lane.

The board approved a motion to enter into an agreement with Muni-Code Inc. to provide codification software, which will be used to update the city charter with past amendments and all city ordinance. The database of local ordinances will be free and open to the public in “searchable” platform. The total cost is not to exceed $16,000 and will take about 10-to-12 months to complete.

The board also approved an order that states, “Mississippi Power Company has requested the Municipality of Waveland, MS, to cause a franchise to be issued to it for a period of 25 years, which proposed franchise ordinance would provide for the payment to Waveland, a sum equal to the greater of three percent of Mississippi Power Company’s total revenue from retail sales of electric energy within Waveland or $300 per annum, according to the terms and conditions of the proposed franchise ordinance.” A copy of the proposed order can be viewed at www.seacoasttecho.com. The board will have the ability to change the agreement and welcomes public input.

The board also spread on the minutes the selection of Tidelands Projects for FY 2021: A) Marina preliminary design and study cost; B) Lights for walking path; C) Pagodas and showers for beach access.

The next board meeting is scheduled for June 17 at 6:30 p.m.

and storm surge to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Mississippi Emergency Management Agency Director Gregory Michel said Monday during Gov. Tate Reeves’ press conference that Hancock County saw the worst of the flooding in the state.

“We had flooding in the low-lying areas,” Adam said. “On the west side of Hwy. 603, we still have some roads with some water over them,” as well as in a few other areas.

On Sunday, Adam and the Hancock EMA crew reported flooding on a total of 259 streets, including in Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pearlinton, Kiln, Diamondhead, Ansley and all around the county.

“We’ve made the rounds around the city trying to assess the damage,” Bay St. Louis Mayor Mike Favre said Monday. We still have a lot of roads that are still under water, so it’s hard to get a good assessment. We need to see about the roads and the lift stations and everything.”

Favre said he hadn’t heard of any homes being flooded, but said some cars parked where their owners thought they were safe ended up damaged.

“They parked their vehicles where they thought they were safe,” Favre said, “but that little storm put a lot of water on us. It was very unexpected.”

Favre believes that flood mitigation efforts in Louisiana likely caused more extensive flooding here than Hancock County has previously seen during similar storms.

“This got a lot of people by surprise,” he said. “But you know, water finds the lowest spot. With those levees, I do believe it will push the water here. That’s something we need to work out with the Corps of Engineers and see what can be done about it.”

The Hancock County Emergency Management Agency has set up an online portal for residents to report damage and request assistance.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Cities of Bay St. Louis, Diamondhead, & Waveland have declared a local proclamation in response to Tropical Storm Cristobal, which will allow Hancock County access to federal and state resources should they become available.

amid the coronavirus crisis. Social distancing guidelines will be strictly enforced for all who attend. Face masks are required. The show of support between the NAACP and local law enforcement happens to come on the heels of the death of 46-year-old George Floyd, a black Minneapolis man who died in police custody on May 25 while lying handcuffed and facedown in the street after white police officer, Derek Chauvin, kneeled on his neck for almost nine minutes. Three other police officers, all of different ethnicities, assisted Chauvin in the arrest. All four officers were fired the next day after videos taken by onlookers and from security cameras nearby surfaced. Floyd could be heard in the videos pleading for his life, repeatedly saying “I can’t breathe.” Floyd’s death triggered peaceful protests throughout the nation as individuals and organizations took a stand against police brutality and rallied for racial equality while demanding reform to the justice system. By week two, other countries around the globe joined the U.S. in support. Chauvin was arrested and initially charged with third-degree murder and second-degree manslaughter. Later, after two autopsies ruled Floyd’s death as a homicide, second-degree murder charges were added on Chauvin and the three other officers were all charged with aiding and abetting second-degree murder. The FBI and the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension are both investigating the incident. A blessing of the food in Floyd’s honor will take place shortly before distribution at Saturday’s event. “The NAACP stands behind peaceful protests,” Hancock County NAACP President Gregory Barabino said. “We support law enforcement and the continued efforts in building better relationships throughout the community. On behalf of the Hancock County NAACP, we send our condolences to the family of George Floyd and all others around the nation who’ve lost their lives through violent engagements with police.” If you’re interested in assisting and serving the community for the event, please call Hancock County NAACP President Gregory Barabino at 501-554-1753. Onsite entertainment will be sponsored and provided by Greg B. Productions.

A MUCH NEEDED CONVERSATION

A few years ago, I was covering a school board meeting for an area newspaper, when I heard a white male school board member tell an African American mother that her concerns for the way the school district disciplined her son were not about racism. “Racism is over,” he said. “That’s all in the past.”

The response of the board member was not so shocking or surprising at that moment. The mother was expressing her desperation to solve her son’s problems, and the actions of the school district didn’t appear to be directly related to race. And, having interacted with the board member and knowing him somewhat, what I understood him to say is that he had grown and evolved to the point where he was more accepting and respectful of people of different racial backgrounds. So his actions were more of a surmise: as he had grown, certainly the world, too, had grown.

But not so fast! The assumption here is that this board member walks in the shoes of African Americans and that our experiences on a daily basis are at least similar. This is where I part ways with the school board member. Our experiences may be similar in that we all may go to WalMart or to McDonald’s or to Froogle’s or to the Shell station, but I would contend that African Americans are more likely to be stopped by law enforcement on their ways coming or going to any of these destinations. And sometimes for no reason but for the color of our skin.

Case in point, on July 4, 2007, I was stopped by a Bay St. Louis policeman for driving from the 400 block to the 500 block on the street on which I live. The officer told me that the reason he stopped me was because I had avoided a police checkpoint on the corner of Main Street and St. Francis St. - two blocks away from the intersection that I had crossed. He sent for a field sobriety test even though I told him that I had not consumed any alcohol.

As we waited for the field sobriety test, and as he held my driver’s license, he began to recognize my name and face. “You cover Bay High football; you’re the newspaper man,” he said. “I played football at Bay High. I remember you now.

“I can tell that you’re not under the influence,” he said. “I’m going to let you go, but I need to give you the field sobriety test since I ordered it.”

“If your decision is to waste tax payers dollars, that’s your decision,” I said as I got increasingly frustrated with the officer for delaying my trip to WalMart.

Maybe that school board member could have had a similar experience. However, an experience I had with Bay PD last summer (2019), I sincerely doubt a white citizen would experience or tolerate.

Wicker Welcomes Mississippi National Guardsmen to Washington

Volunteers Bring Calm and Security to Nation’s Capital

During this time of great pain and unrest for our country, a group of dedicated young Mississippi troops is bringing peace and stability to our nation’s capital. They are volunteers from our very own Mississippi National Guard who, at the request of the Pentagon, left their families and homes to guard the streets of Washington. These men and women are coordinating with law enforcement to protect peaceful protesters, local residents, private property, and our most cherished monuments from the riots and vandalism that have marked recent days.

MODERN-DAY MINUTE MEN
These volunteers deserve high praise for their swift response. At noon on Monday, they received word from

From the Senate
By Sen. Roger Wicker

Mississippi’s Adjutant General Durr Boyles. By 6:00 a.m. Tuesday, nearly 400 guardsmen had packed their bags, suited up, and were bus-ing into Jackson from all over the state. They converged at Thompson Field in Flowood, where Mississippi’s 172nd Airlift Wing flew them on C-17s to Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington. Senior leaders then worked late into the night planning Wednesday’s objectives. By Wednesday afternoon, our guardsmen were carrying out missions, bringing calm to a city on edge.

In the evening, the guardsmen began a rotation. Two hundred deployed to posts in downtown Washington to support riot control, and at midnight, the remaining 200 took their place. It may be surprising to learn these troops are unarmed. They are equipped only with riot shields, face covers, body armor, and masks. And they are joined by hundreds of fellow guardsmen from across America.

HEARTS OF SERVICE
Senator Cindy Hyde-Smith and I were able to meet with a number of these volunteers, including Lieutenant Colonel Charles Moss, the deputy commanding officer. On our way, in the center of town, we had to pass through checkpoints and drive down deserted streets with boarded up storefronts and restaurants. One of the young guardsmen I spoke with is an Army specialist and graduate of Jim Hill High School in Jackson, where he participated in the JROTC program. He shared with me the joy he takes in going back to meet with young cadets who are finding JROTC to be a profound source of direction and stability in life. I can only hope they follow in his footsteps and model his heart of service.

Winter Wheat Available

Whether you are a photographer, a hunter or just like viewing wildlife on a sunny afternoon, anyone who has spent time overlooking a food plot will have a deep appreciation for wildlife plantings.

Food plots are very attractive to wildlife enthusiasts because they can supplement daily nutritional needs at a low cost. These plots can be designed to serve as a source of food and cover. Well-managed food plots have the potential to not only increase the wildlife population and their quality of health, but can also increase our opportunities for wildlife viewing.

To aid landowners who would like to plant wildlife food plots, Wildlife Mississippi is continuing its popular Wildlife Habitat Seed Program. Through this program, Wildlife Mississippi will make wheat available at a minimal cost.

Conservation
Corner

The Wildlife Habitat Seed Program is designed to provide an incentive for landowners to establish and maintain food plots that will yield a variety of benefits to the landowner as well as to the species of wildlife he or she is managing. Winter wheat will be available through Wildlife Mississippi’s Fall 2020 Wildlife Habitat Seed Program. All seed is treated and has good germination rates. Wildlife Mississippi will distribute the wheat in the month of September.

If planted properly, the various types of seed will be utilized by a variety of species of wildlife. White-tailed deer, turkeys, bobwhite quail, mourning doves, waterfowl, and many species of songbirds will benefit from the plantings of the wheat.

The guidelines regarding this program are simple and easy to follow. Anyone interested in obtaining wheat should place their order no later than July 31, 2020. Orders are fulfilled on a first come, first serve basis.

Shipping and handling charges incurred by Wildlife Mississippi are included in the price of the wheat. The cost will be $9.00 per 50 lb. bag. Pick up locations will be Amory, Flowood, Greenville, and Hattiesburg.

For an order form and planting recommendations for this beneficial program, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Wildlife Mississippi, PO Box 10, Stoneville, MS 38776. If you wish to place your order online, please visit our website at www.wildlifemiss.org/seed.

James L. Cummins is executive director of Wildlife Mississippi, a non-profit, conservation organization founded to conserve, restore, and enhance fish, wildlife, and plant resources throughout Mississippi. Their web site is www.wildlifemiss.org.

Many of these soldiers are already seasoned veterans. They lead civilian lives, including several current and former congressional staffers. Most were stationed last year in Kuwait, where they were part of the campaign against ISIS in nearby Iraq and Syria. Some of them also served in Jordan, Oman, and Qatar before returning home.

HEROES, NOW AT HOME

• CONVERSATION

After my sister and I met at my son's house to discuss the status of the sale of our parent's home, she called me to tell me that there was a "four or five-year old boy" crying in the middle of the street, a football field distance away. I picked up my grandson and went outside to see what was going on. I met the boy and talked to him to calm him down. We stood under a live oak tree in front of the former home of my deceased parents, and I called Bay PD.

About five minutes later, I flagged down the approaching police car. Two Bay PD officers - an African American woman, who was driving and a white male - got out of the car, and I began telling them what was going on.

The female officer began talking to the boy. The male officer approached me. "I need to see your ID," he said.

"I'm the one who called the police," I said trying to understand why he was so stern with me.

"I need to know what you are doing here," he said.

"I live in that house," I pointed to my home two parcels away and across the street. "I was watching my grandson (who I am holding as we are talking) at the grey house over there."

The officer chuckled as if to say, "There's no way in hell you could live in any of these houses."

"Are you going to show me an ID or.....?" he said in a more forceful, threatening tone. So I retrieved my wallet and handed my

ID to him. He read the information on my license into a small microphone on the front of his uniform, and after a brief discussion, he returned my license.

Translated: In the officer's eyes, I was considered a criminal until I proved to him that I wasn't. Guilty until proven innocent.

For the record, I have called Bay PD a total of four times over the past two years (a break in into my car, trespassers at the home of my deceased parents and trespassers at a nearby vacant home), and three of the four experiences were handled professionally. I was not asked to present my ID as if I were living in South Africa during the era of apartheid.

Additionally, my wife and I were stopped by Bay PD while driving around the second, third and fourth blocks of Washington Street and Sycamore Street, surveying Christmas decorations. We have also been stopped by Bay PD during an after-dinner walk through our neighborhood.

And racial tensions are also showing up in everyday situations: Approximately a year and a half ago, I addressed a young man who told me that he had been dragged into bathrooms while attending a predominantly African American high school (suggesting that he was beaten up on a regular basis). He then went on to use a racist expression to describe former President Obama. As he turned red, trying to pull back the racist expression, I told him that his problem was that he was a "racist wuss" and a "racist" (another name you call a cat). That night he went on Facebook broadcasting that I called him an extremely vulgar expression, an expression that

The dedication these troops showed during overseas deployments is now being displayed on the streets of Washington. Each of them volunteered to leave their families and jobs at a moment's notice to serve this country they love. I am sure many of them never expected to be guarding our nation's capital, but they are doing so with distinction that ought to make every Mississippian proud.

At a time of national crisis, when some might be tempted to doubt this country's future, our National Guardsmen remind us of the spirit of service that makes America truly great. They are not only protecting our capital. They are showing that character, sacrifice, and love of country will outlast the pain and suffering that our nation has recently endured.

I don't use.

Local governments have also been emboldened by acts of disrespect and exclusion. Locally, the Bay St. Louis City Council voted to not reappoint African American school board members, supporting the recommendation of the mayor to make the board all white, depriving African Americans a seat at the table.

This is not the Bay St. Louis that I know and that I grew up with. When I look back at our history at the brave citizens who encouraged participation and inclusion, like Mayor Larry Bennett who appointed Douglas Williams, an African American, to be chief of police in Bay St. Louis; Wilmer Seymour, Frank Ladner and J.E. Loiacano, educators and coaches who guided us with honesty and fairness; and James Ginn, a local banker who worked with us to help us finance college and our first cars, just to name a few.

I share my experiences because my wife and I are both professionals, and if we experience inappropriate behavior from people in positions of authority, what chance does a young man or woman have, who may not be able to express themselves as freely as us, if confronted by an ill-intentioned policeman or an adult with hate in their heart?

This is a potentially dangerous environment of superiority and exclusion, and, if allowed to fester, our problems, that may appear small to those who are not directly affected, could brew into a culture whereby an "I CAN'T BREATHE" moment is not as far away from us as we might think.

EVELYN M. JONES LADY

Evelyn M. Jones Lady, 95, of Bay St. Louis, MS passed away Thursday, June 4, 2020 in New Orleans, LA.

Evelyn, the sixth of seven children born to Robert and Elizabeth Jones of Philadelphia, PA was born on November 12, 1924. She graduated from the Philadelphia High School for girls in 1942. From there she attended and graduated from Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, VA in 1946 with a Bachelor of Arts degree, majoring in English. During her college years she worked part time in the Administrative offices and was active in various ways, including cheerleading, the Student Christian Movement, the college glee club and finally editor-in-chief of her 1946 college yearbook. She was also named in the 1945-46 edition of Who's Who among students in America's Colleges and Universities. Following her college graduation she moved to New Windsor, MD, where she was involved with various programs of the Church of the Brethren relief and rehabilitation during the aftermath of World War II, including Heifers for Relief and a student exchange program for Polish agricultural students. Part of her responsibilities for that program was teaching the students English and monitoring their progress in their individual assignments. During her years in Maryland she learned to know and love Milford Lady who was involved in post-war relief programs including Heifers for Relief, as it was known then, and served as a seagoing cowboy on the first shipment of heifers in 1947 to Italy. This relationship culminated happily in their marriage in 1948, following which the couple moved to Beloit, Wisconsin where Evelyn had been offered a position in the admissions department of Beloit College. Later, after a number of years working in the Chicago area and the births of their three sons, the couple jointly took on the purchase and management of a 100-room hotel and amenities in Waveland, MS. They had happily been joined by their three sons in this enterprise which grew and flourished for 30+ years until it was demolished by Hurricane Katrina in 2005, along with their homes, autos and possessions. Although life has been happy for Evelyn and her family, the most difficult to deal with for them has been the loss of their eldest son Jim in 2007, and, of course, for her losing her life's greatest love, Milford, after 65 happy years of marriage. She is very thankful to still have her two caring sons Steve and Bill and their wives; four granddaughters; five great-granddaughters and one great grandson.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, MS is in charge of the arrangements.

Crab Fest 2020 cancelled

SEA COAST ECHO

After reviewing the state's June guidelines for the Covid 19 pandemic, OLG Parish staff and members of the Crab Festival committee have decided to cancel this year's Festival. Trying to limit the number of visitors to the Crab Festival would be virtually impossible and a challenge to social distancing. Thus the decision to cancel. We hope that you will understand the decision and we want everyone to be safe. Bigger plans are already in the making for next year!!! We WILL BE DOING THE 15K Draw Down and the 1k Raffle.

ARE YOU A PROCRASTINATOR? BY GARY ANDREWS

It seems the longer I live the later I become in doing most everything. Working in the media business I worked crazy hours as I was on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week. My office hours weren't the usual eight to five job because of ball games, meetings, and other functions at night. I often was referred to as being a procrastinator or a person that was going to be late for a lot of events. Most of this criticism was well deserved and on target. I will say that I didn't procrastinate when it came to accepting Jesus as my Lord and Savior. He began tugging at my heart when I was 12 years old and on Easter Sunday in 1958 I made my profession of faith in front of my church. Don't know why I chose Easter Sunday because the church was packed and I believe everyone came down to tell me how proud they were of me.

What is procrastination and what does the Bible say about it? According to Webster's College Dictionary procrastinate means: belonging to the morrow; to put off doing (something unpleasant or burdensome) until a future time; to postpone (such actions) habitually. I am not sure but I have read that the word procrastination is not found in the Bible; however it has plenty of say about laziness, which is a result of procrastination. Proverbs 15:19 says, "The way of the sluggard is blocked with thorns, but the path of the upright is a highway." The words blocked with thorns mean that he was too lazy to remove the thorns and it impeded his progress toward his goal. Many of us are quick to put off projects and work that needs to be finished in a timely manner. For these earthly items it is only a matter of time before we get it finished or someone finishes it for us. Most of us really procrastinate when it comes to telling others about Jesus and the eternal life that only He can provide. This is something that, we as Christians, should never hesitate to tell the lost. Time is of essence and extremely important because we do not know the time or day that the Lord will call us home. Everyone deserves the opportunity to hear about Jesus and what He has to offer. Many times we are slow about going to a friend, neighbor, brother, or sister and make amends for problems of the past. We tend to let things fester and become a big sore instead of taking the proper steps to a healing process. If we have anger in our heart against someone, do not let another minute pass without taking action to eliminate the problem. It will make you feel better and rebuild a friendship that may have been tarnished. Procrastination is not a talent to be proud of. I know I have put things off to many times but with the help of the Lord, I am making a strenuous effort to overcome my hesitation. God wants all of us to be willful and fruitful workers, especially when it comes to witnessing and winning lost souls on His behalf. Prayer: Thank you Lord for all you have done for me and I pray that I will be the person that you want me to be. Amen.

Chairman Dane Maxwell Encourages Participation in Mississippi "Zap the Gap" Program

Residents of South Mississippi can report areas where they experience gaps in service to help future expansion efforts

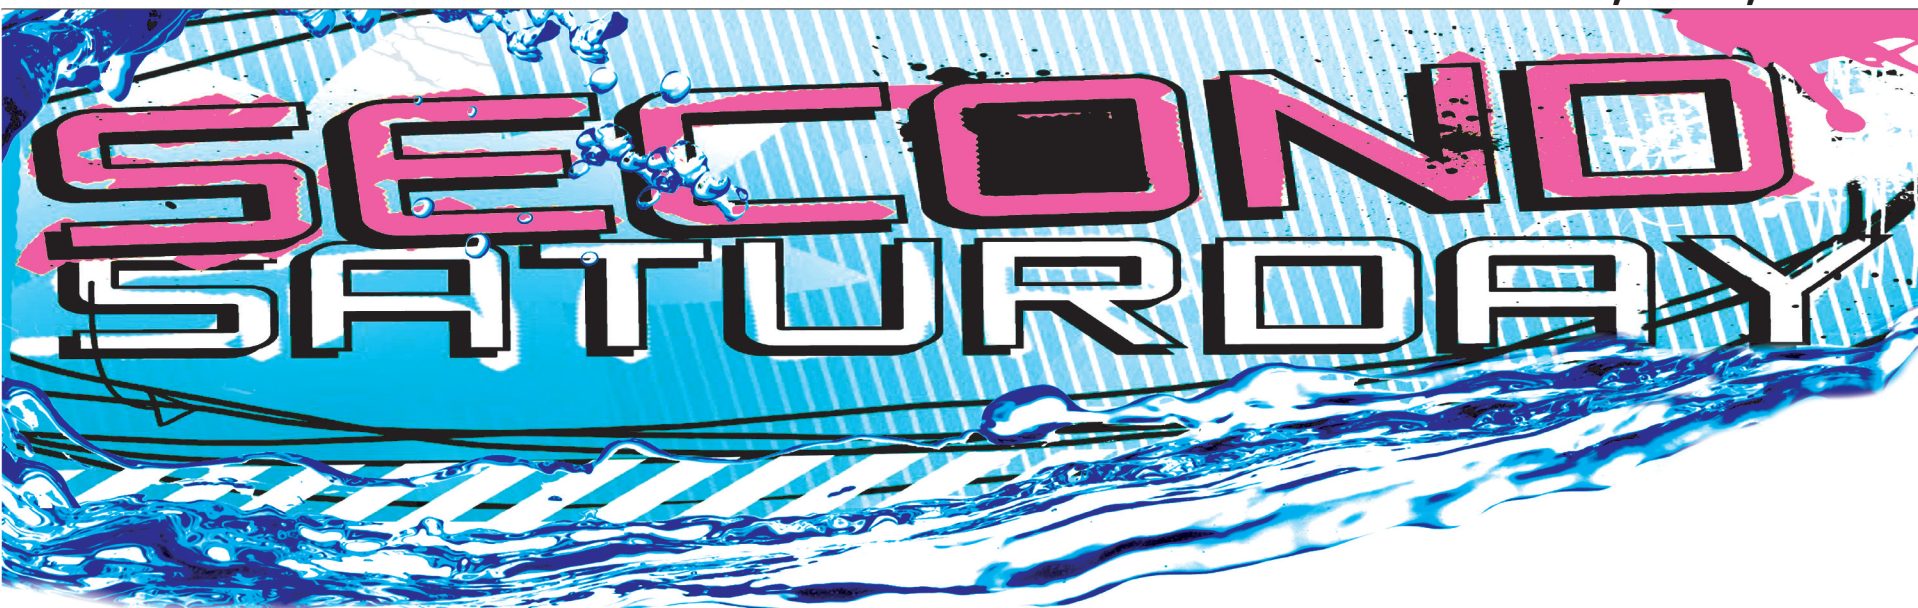

SEA COAST ECHO

Southern District Commissioner Dane Maxwell of the Mississippi Public Service Commission is implementing a program for the first time in South Mississippi called "Zap the Gap."

"This program allows residents to report areas where they lack cell phone coverage, high-speed internet service, or natural gas service. Reliable cell phone and internet services has become so important to the lives of many Mississippians, especially to those in rural areas," Chairman Maxwell said, "This program is designed to get direct feedback from the people who are actually impacted by these gaps, so that we can help service providers identify problem areas."

If you live in an area of South Mississippi that has poor cell phone coverage, lacks high-speed internet service or natural gas – Maxwell and the Public Service Commission want to hear from you. The Southern District staff will collect information from the consumer survey available on the MSPSC website here: <https://www.psc.ms.gov/south/ztg>, or call 228-374-2160 for assistance.

The information provided in the surveys will assist the MSPSC in the goal of bringing affordable broadband internet access, dependable wireless coverage and natural gas service to everyone in the state of Mississippi.

Old Town Artwalk's Triumphant Return

BY CAITLIN BOURGEOIS
AND ECHO STAFF

This Saturday, June 13, marks the return of Old Town Merchants Association's Second Saturday Artwalk in downtown Bay St. Louis for the first time since the COVID-19 shutdown.

While the shops will be open late and all the Old Town merchants look to recapture the usual fun of Second Saturday, they are asking everyone to be cognizant of social distancing rules and be prepared to "mask up."

As always, there are two "Hot Spots" designated for the Old Town visitors. This month's Hot Spots are Bay Life Gifts at The Shops of Century Hall at 112 S. Second St.; and The Parrot Head Bar & Grill at the Bodega, 111 Court St.

There are "Hot Spot" activities scheduled from 10 a.m.-7 p.m., and there will be live music from 4-7 p.m.

BAY LIFE GIFTS

A bodega in almost the viewing the historic Century Hall from across the street makes you wonder just how a place can host so many shops inside. The building is three stories, with a beautiful porch and balcony, and hosts onsite parking for customers to browse the 16 shops it is home to. Then, you step in off of Second Street to find the most welcoming committee of shop owners you could have ever wanted to meet.

Take a quick couple of steps down the stairs to be greeted by Janice Guido, the owner of Bay Life Gifts. Janice is welcoming and energetic, with a memory that will make you wonder how she could possibly retain so much information without a cheat sheet to help guide her. She guides customers through her shop while introducing each artist and product that she glides her hand over. Her energy for her shop is infectious and makes a customer want to dive right into all of the incredible goods she has to offer.

Janice brought Bay Life Gifts to The Shops of Century Hall after running the shop on Main Street for three years. "I love to be in this historical building. It's a survivalist building," Janice said. The artwork that lines the walls of her shop is a beautiful modern feeling in a building heading into its 101st year. Janice selects the artwork for her shop from local artists and spends a lot of time doing so. Tehle McGuffee and Kathy Bensabat are just two of the local artists that Janice hosts in Bay Life Gifts.

sucker for a good table setting but she fills her three room shop with gifts of all kinds. If you're stumped on gift giving, Janice is a guru at whipping up the perfect gift basket - she has gifts for everyone and never disappoints. Bay Life Gifts also offers wedding registry for those couples who want to be locally mindful.

There is so much about Janice that is fascinating and brings so much life to her shop. She sits on the Hancock County Tourism Board, works with the Hancock Chamber of Commerce and is organizing the 2nd Annual Hancock Parade of Homes with her co-chair, Regan Kane.

Bay Life Gifts will be one of the Second Saturday Hot Spots on June 13th as the Old Town district begins to bounce back from COVID-19. Bay Life Gifts will be keeping it lively with Joy Mathern's Ukulele Band playing on the front porch of The Shops of Century Hall, weather permitting, from 4:00 to 6:30 pm. Janice will be providing complimentary bottled water and Hershey Kisses because, as she put it, everyone just needs a hug right now.

Explore the pastel artwork of Vicki Lueb

BY JACQUELINE SCHORR

Searching the USA for new examples of a specific art form is not only an educational adventure, but an exciting one as well.

This exploration discoversPastel, an art medium in the form of a stick, consisting of pure powdered pigment and a binder. The pigments used in Pastels are the same as those used to produce all colored art media, including oil paints and acrylics; the binder is of a neutral hue and low saturation. In appearance, it’s sort of across between a stick of chalk and a crayon.

Our search begins all the way down at the bottom of the United States, on the central Gulf of Mexico. Fortunately, we Mississippi Gulf Coastal residents do not have to venture out too far from home to find exactly what we want, in a Pastel Landscape by a top-notch, representational landscape artist.

Hancock County, Mississippi seems to be the perfect setting of consistent inspiration for a truly gifted, and astute local Pastel artist, Vicki Lynne Lueb.

She adores nature and creating the most intoxicating wetlands landscapes.

Her heart is here as well as her home.

Vicki was born and spent her youth primarily in Lumberton, MS. Her family moved around a little, living briefly in New Mexico and Arizona with a two-year stint in Alabama. She graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg, where she studied mathematics and computers.

Her degreed career took over at that point. She earned her living in New Orleans, LA, working in the highly technical field of computer programming management.

“You’d be surprised at how many painters and artists have an analytical background, which just seems counter intuitive,” says Vicki. “But it’s not that rare,” she adds.

Picking up watercolors and acrylics during her working years in New Orleans, literally kept her hand in her craft, and her creative juices flowing until she experienced an artistic career jolt in 2012 with Pastel, her first love in art mediums.

Artist Vicki Lueb -- who won Honorable Mention for her latest pastel, “Swimming Hole” at the Degas 21st Members Show in New Orleans.

“Bonne Nuit Jacqueline” by Vicki Lueb.

Louis and Kiln, MS, off Highway 603, Vicki’s custom built raised home incorporates her studio/workshop. Here she creates her artistic masterpieces. The beautiful scenery she enjoys each day is an exquisite river view. That beauty inspires her art. And, the scene brings back her fond childhood memories of camping, swimming, and water skiing with relatives and close friends for weekends and summers, on the Jourdan River.

Vicki says, “There is something magical about the water.”

Like most great artists, Vicki spends valuable time fraternizing with her peers. She studies with internationally known artists like Stephanie Birdsall and Lyn Asselta. And, she is an active member of the Pastel Society of Mississippi as well as three local Gulf Coastal art organizations, which are The Arts, Hancock County; Ocean Springs Art Association; and Pass Christian Art Association, where she serves as vice- president. On a national level, Vicki was thrilled to become a signature member of Degas Pastel Society, based in New Orleans.

When asked about winning competitive artistic awards and specific honors so far, Vicki offers a modest smile before sipping cold Perrier Water from a small crystal glass. She collects her thoughts, quickly.

“I am really proud of being juried into the Degas Pastel Society as a signature member last year. And, that was a big deal for me, because it was always a professional goal. Then I won Honorable Mention for my latest Pastel, “Swimming Hole” at the Degas 21st Members Show in New Orleans, where it hung beside works of some of the most talented artists in the country, and I was really happy about that. It was very exciting!” Vicki said, smiling.

That piece was also juried into the Cedars Show in Jackson, which is open to Mississippi artists statewide. It is her first time to get in.

Artistically, 2019 turned out to be an exciting year for Vicki. She has proved herself as an accomplished artist since she established her Pastel goals in the art world during 2012. She has wn awards from the Pass Christian Art Association, and the Hammond Art Guild. She also earned the “Peoples’ Choice Award” in Waveland’s Pastel Show. She has won the prestigious Latour Award for Exceptional Landscape twice from The Ocean Springs Art Association.

All this acceptance and winning validates Vicki’s success with her artwork and fuels her passion to improve her craft. She is a self-made artist who pursues perfection to the furthest degree. She believes it is all about enjoying the process or journey of creating, not expectations. Her desire is to get better so she is free to create what she wants to create.

The reason why Vicki loves Pastel so much is because of the immediacy of the medium. The idea of putting exciting, vibrant color on paper and not having to wait for the layers to dry provides instant gratification to the artist.

She enjoys that. Artwork is extremely intimate to Vicki, really personal. While sitting at her easel in solitude, visualizing and crafting a beautiful scene, a piece of herself goes in with her emotion to create a piece of art, forevermore esthetic to the eye. She does not copy a scene.

She interprets it, usually into another accomplishment for herself.

At times a collector will offer a commission to Vicki for creating a very specific piece, especially for them. When a collector sees something special in the artist’s work which resonates within them, a very strong, sometimes even spiritual, bond or connection is formed between artist and collector.

These relationships prove to be healthy and productive for both parties with new artwork the result.

Before starting a commission piece, Vicki first gets an idea of what the collector wants by showing them her work and discussing it thoroughly, to make sure it is compatible with what they expect.

Vicki’s largest Pastel work thus far was commissioned in spring 2019. The work was completed just in time for the collector’s birthday at the end of July.

“Bonne Nuit Jacqueline” is a Pastel masterpiece. Vicki says she worked very slowly and carefully, making sure every stroke counted. She is truly pleased with the piece, she said.”And, the collector adores it!”

Vicki recalls a saying that both artist and collector will validate: “When someone buys a painting, they are buying a little piece of the artist’s soul.”

Take a bit of leisure time to venture out to Bay St. Louis, to view Vicki Lueb artwork on display in Gallery 220, on Main St. and Behold Gallery and Framing on Highway 90. If you find yourself unable to get out and about, find her on Facebook, at Vicki Lueb Art.

Bodega offers The Parrot Head Bar & Grill, Bodega Spirits Liquor, LOFT Yoga and Bodega Adventure Rentals - all in one convenient location. Pop in for a morning yoga session, grab a delicious lunch and margarita, rent a golf cart for a day on the town and then grab a bottle of wine to finish off your evening.

The Parrot Head Bar & Grill is back to their regular hours and serving their full menu. They have added tables outdoors and stick with social distancing while their staff members wear masks. Chef Rickey, who once owned the infamous Rickey’s Restaurant in Waveland, is still in the kitchen at The Parrot Head Bar & Grill, which many locals love.

The Parrot Head Bar & Grill will be one of the Second Saturday Hot Spots on June 13th. They will be hosting live music from the balcony which is part of their “From the Balcony Summer Music Series” from 7-10.

Lewy encourages guests to bring their own folding chairs and to keep it to groups of no more than 6 people.

Gallery 220 will celebrate two featured artists this Second Saturday: Barbara Brodtmann and Janet Densmore.

Barbara Brodtmann creates unique impressions of life on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Her subjects range from horn blowing Jazz musicians to beach strutting Sandpipers, all the while capturing the unique colors and light with her favorite mediums of watercolor and acrylic. In addition to her paintings, Barbara has a long history of teaching art, to both children and adults and many have attended her popular Wine, Women and Watercolor sessions.

Janet Densmore will be showing more of her acrylic altered landscapes and beach scenes that change color by means of transparent pigments and minerals. Some images shift from vibrant neorealism to linear abstraction as the viewer moves closer to the paintings. In her smaller paintings and sculptures, Janet pushes the classic genre of still life to hilarious extremes in works she likes to call “Food For Thought,” with titles like “Confronting GMO” and “Cutting Down On Fats.”

Everyone is invited to join in the creative energy at Gallery 220 Main, home to over 25 local artists.

MHSAA restarts high school athletics after COVID-19 shutdown

The Hancock Hawks’ football team working out at Hawk Stadium during their acclimatization phase for the restart of high school athletics in Mississippi.

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The past few months have seemed like a blur to many while to others it has some just dragged on. For the coaches and student-athletes involved in training for competition, there has been a void in their life which they have tried to conduct Zoom meetings and urge training on their own to remain in some sort of shape. However, that void was filled when the Mississippi High School Activities Association’s Executive Committee met on Thursday, May 21st and gave everyone involved the news they were hoping to receive. The MHSAA authorized the restart of high school athletics and training as of Monday, June 1st. It was a much-welcomed announcement to say the least. The area’s high schools - Bay High School, Hancock, Our Lady Academy, Pass Christian, and Saint Stanislaus - all started off-season training, conditioning, weightlifting, and practices last week. Football, basketball, baseball, and volleyball all restarted their routines but with an acclimatization period of two weeks. SSC head coach Nate Encrpera commented, “This was a very welcomed announcement by the MHSAA. We have had Zoom meetings with coaches and players but only so much can be covered in a meeting over the computer. To be able to interact with the kids was fantastic for both coaches and players. Some of them came back in pretty good shape while others not so much. However, that was expected as we understand the situation they are going through. It was great just to get back on the field and work-out, condition and teach again. The acclimatization period is fluid and we are working through it as best we can with the guidelines set forth. We are just thrilled to be back out here with our guys.” Most of the teams and schools are working on the same things which is getting back in shape at a rigorous but controlled pace. And, it must be that way. Back on Friday, March 13th the rug was ripped from beneath the feet of not only student-athletes but coaches, teachers, parents, etc. Plus, quitting something cold turkey and expecting to start back up where one left off three months later is simply not realistic. Bay High head coach Jeremy Turcotte stated, “We are bringing the players along slowly because we are fully aware and cognizant of the situation. We are focused on fundamentals and not being sloppy. This is a great opportunity to teach again but at the same time frustrating because you feel like you want to do so much to make up for time lost. This has been a tragedy for everyone involved but to varying degrees and we have to be mindful of that. The kids have been phenomenal. They are resilient, committed and communicative. This time away gave me an opportunity to speak to parents more in depth and it has been a blessing for the program. It has showed us what we took for granted before.” Throughout the summer the players and coaches will be brought along in phases by the MHSAA to allow for a successful restart of the athletics and activities with the hope of no serious uptick in cases of COVID-19. Therefore, there will be no opportunity for teams to travel to team camps or to have interscholastic play during the summer such as 7-on-7 in football or summer league games in baseball, basketball or volleyball. But, teams may intersquad scrimmage among themselves as much as they want when the MHSAA moves into that phase. Hancock head coach Neil Lollar described the Hawks’ restart, “We had a great week last week. We brought our varsity in separate from our ninth graders just so we can separate into groups. We were running about 110-115 guys through stations last week. The players are energized and young could tell they missed it. It brought them some sense of normal. We are lifting and conditioning right now and not going through position drills until the players are complete with the acclimatization period. Some of this stuff is not fun to do but the players know what they need to do to get where they need to be. It has been good for everyone involved.” The three football coaches all stated that none of their players were sick from the virus or had family members that had the virus. The teams are all completing their practice es in the early morning hours to give the players rest throughout the remainder of the day or the opportunity to hold a job. In another week, the MHSAA will decide what the next steps will be toward a full return to activity.

SSC basketball holds a reunion from the Ladner era

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

This writer has long held the mantra that basketball in Hancock County was started by a Ladner. That idea can also be true with Saint Stanislaus basketball. On Thursday, May 21st a reunion was held at the home of Jamie Cuevas for the basketball players who played under former SSC head coach Jay Ladner. Ladner, who coached at the school from 1991 until 2011, commented, “This is a reunion that started out about four years ago with a few players gathering at Desi Vegas steakhouse in New Orleans growing to a full-fledged reunion for all the players that I had the privilege of coaching during my 20 years at Saint Stanislaus College. We always preached family and Rock-a-chaw tradition. We wanted our players to be instilled with the Stanislaus way of doing things which is the right way. It is one thing to just play basketball but we wanted our players to feel proud of their school and playing in the basketball program.” Ladner coached several hundred players during his two decades at the school tallying a high school record of 511-189 with ten state tournament appearances including the 2011 Class 4A state championship. He made the leap to Jones County Junior College in 2012 and led the Bobcats to the NJCAA Division I national championship in 2014 becoming the lowest seed to ever win the title. He accumulated a 45-13 record at JCJC. Following the national championship at JCJC, Ladner was named the head coach at Southeastern Louisiana University where he stayed for five seasons. He led the Lions to a 76-88 record, a Southland Conference regular season

Katie is a 3 year old Beagle with all of the stellar personality traits and physical features that endears this breed to so many of us, This beauty came in as a stray. But, happy-go-lucky, talkative, sweet natured Katie is ready to join her true forever family. She never meets a stranger, and enjoys romping and playing with the other dogs in her living area. We recommend a home with a fenced backyard, so Katie can run, play and explore her brand new world. Her ideal match would be an active single person, couple or retirees, who are seeking a canine companion to share in adventures and activities. A family with school aged children or older would also be a good fit for Katie. We are unsure yet if she is house or crate trained, or how she feels about cats. If you are a fan of Beagles like we are, please message our Facebook page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, or call our front desk at 228-466-4516 to schedule a meet-n-greet with Katie. Ladner added, "I am so proud of the young men that I taught and coached at SSC. So many have gone on to be incredibly successful and that's the intimate reward for myself and all the Brothers of the Sacred Heart and faculty that had a chance to help form these young men.

I am very proud of the tradition we were able to establish; however, I was only a part of it. We had tremendous administrative and faculty support, a great staff of assistant coaches, the best fan base in America, and, of course, some of the best young men that our country and state produces. I believe the 'Sea of Red' would've followed us to the gates of Hades! It was a special special time, and, I can't wait until next year."
